Dear Sir:

I would appreciate knowing if the United States is helping Italy, through our CIA, concerning the shooting of the Pope.

I think it is worthwhile that we try to do business as usual with the new Despot of the U.S.S.R. when he was the one heading the KGB that ordered the shooting of Pope John Paul II, Italy is standing alone against Russia.

The Pope is a world figure and so this incident is not an Italian problem alone.

(We Americans should be told, via T.V.) the complete should. And I believe the U.S. should be actively involved against Russia.

We all know that since 1917
you can not rely on the word
or treaties with Russia.

Dentist, arms control and trade is not as important as figuring out for sure why the Kremlin was not behind
the plot.

Thank you for taking time
from your very schedule to read this letter.

Very respectfully,
